

Our website uses cookies to provide you with the best possible experience when you use our website and also allows us to improve our website. By continuing to use our website, you are agreeing to our use of cookies.

WHAT ARE COOKIES?

A cookie is a small file of letters and numbers that we store on your browser or on your computer if you agree when you visit our website. Cookies allow websites to respond to you as an individual. Cookies do not give us access to your computer or any information about you other than the data you choose to share with us.

You can control and/or delete cookies through the settings on your browser. However, if you block and/or delete all cookies, you may not be able to access all or parts of the website.

WHAT COOKIES DO WE SET?

The table below explains the types of cookies we use on our website and why we use them.

Category of cookies	Why we use these cookies
Strictly Necessary	These cookies are needed for our website to work properly from you.
Functionality	These cookies are used to identify you when you return to the website. This allows us to personalise our content for you and remember your preferences.
Security	We use these cookies to help identify and prevent potential security risks.
Analytics and Performance	These cookies help us to improve the way the website works, for example by ensuring that you are finding what you are looking for easily.
Targeting/Advertising	These cookies record your visit to the website, the pages you have visited, and the links you have followed. We will use these to make the website more relevant to your interests. We may also share this information with third parties for this purpose.

Third Party	These include social media platforms or content from third party platforms. As a result, cookies may be set by these third parties, and used by them to track your online activity. We cannot control the information that is collected by these cookies.
